Necktie Party in Boise

By Bev Stone © 1983

When morning dawned, the search resumed. They hadn't gone far when they discovered the body of John Clark hanging by the neck from a triangle erected on the ground later occupied by the Idaho State Capitol building.

A few years after Clark's death, a woman, claiming to be his sister, arrived in Boise requesting to remove his remains. The body was exhumed and shipped by freight wagon to Umatilla Landing and from there to Portland, by steamboat. No one arrived to claim the box, which was placed in a storeroom on the dock. After the designated pickup time had elapsed, the box, along with other unclaimed freight, was offered at auction to the highest bidder.

After spirited bidding, the box was purchased by a grocery owner on First Street. His wife and daughter, who urged him to hurry, certain they had an unclaimed treasure in such a large box, accompanied him. The grocer managed to pry off the lid. His wife and daughter helping, they hastily pulled out the pieces of packing material to find a skull grinning at them. Amid the shrieks and screams of the ladies, the grocer quickly called for help and the box was hastily removed to the back yard.

The police were called and asked to remove the box and its contents, but they declined, saying there was no city ordinance that said they had to.

The news spread quickly and the grocer's yard was soon full of people who came to view the contents of the box. One of the viewers was a man present when Clark shot Raymond. He noticed a strong resemblance to Clark, so the story goes, and wrote to friends in Boise who informed him of the shipping of Clark's body, solving that mystery.

The grocer was left to dispose of his purchase at his own expense, which he did posthaste. What about the woman who had claimed Clark's body? She disappeared as mysteriously as she had come on the way to Umatilla Landing.

The Vigilante group that had formed as a result of Clark's actions effectively cleared the undesirables from the Boise-Payette valley just as had been done in Lewiston, finally creating a law-abiding area for its residents. ■

ITS A MUD THING

By Laura "Dirty Girl" Heatwole

"TROUBLEMAKER

FINAL STAGE" is owned and driven by Mick Barnes of Jerome, Idaho. Mick has owned Barnes Custom Farming since 1982. They plow, haul potatoes, and dig potatoes. Barnes got started racing when he was just a kid in high school. He started out drag racing a 1957 Chevrolet .327 with a four speed and 456 racing gears in the rear end. Mick went from drag racing to sand racing and finally ventured into mud racing after watching it on television one day. He decided that mud racing was what he needed to be doing so he and another local, Terry Budd, put on their first mud race in Gooding, Idaho in 1979. Mick promoted for several racing seasons with Terry and decided that racing was a lot more fun than putting the shows on, so he dropped promoting and continued racing.

Mick raced a 1947 flat fender Jeep CJ2 for the first 25 years in the stock class. During those 25 years, he won first place approximately 95% of the time. His racing venues include Green River, Wyoming, and most of southern Idaho including: Castleford, Soda Springs, and Richfield. Mick plans on continuing to race in the ProMud class and the only change he's planning on making to Troublemaker is changing the back tires to straight panels instead of cross panels, which will allow him to get more traction. At 1200 HP, there's too much horsepower and the tires just spin on launch so Mick plans on putting on Skat-Trak super scoops, 17x36x16s with 21 paddles per tire.

While sand dragging a Jeep in Bliss, Idaho he flipped his Jeep corner to corner twice, sideways twice, and landed on the lid—fortunately, he walked away from the accident. His response? Mick rolled it back over, changed a tire, and made the next round—taking first place with him. Sadly, his competitor quit racing after witnessing Mick's crash.

Come see Mick race in Bliss, Idaho on July 18, 2009. If that won't work, catch him in Castleford, Idaho for the Shakin' the Rock Mud Drags on August 8th and 9th.

Railroad Tracks

Borrowed from the Internet, Author unknown
Adapted by Bev Stone

The US standard railroad gauge (distance between the rails) is 4 feet, 8.5 inches. That's an exceedingly odd number.

Why was that gauge used? Because that's the way they built them in England, and English expatriates built the US railroads. The first coast-to-coast rail line in the US was completed in 1869 with the driving of the Golden Spike near the present Thiokol plant at Promontory Point, Utah

Why did the English build the railroad tracks like that? Because the first rail lines were built by the same people who built the pre-railroad tramways, those cute little rail cars like those still in use in San Francisco. That was the gauge the tramways used.

Why did the tramways use that gauge? The people who built the tramways used the same jigs and tools that they used for building wagons, which used that wheel spacing.

Stay with me, this is where it gets interesting, as we travel back through time.

Why did the wagons have that particular odd wheel spacing? Well, if they tried to use any other spacing, the wagon wheels would break on some of the old, long distance roads in England, because that's the spacing of the wheel ruts.

So who built those old rutted roads? Imperial Rome built the first long distance roads in Europe (and England) for their armies. The roads have been used ever since.

And the ruts in the roads? Roman war chariots formed the initial ruts, which everyone else had to match for fear of destroying their smaller, weaker wagon wheels.

SaturnVrockets © turbophoto.com

Since the chariots were made for Imperial Rome, they were all alike in the matter of wheel spacing. Therefore the United States standard railroad gauge of 4 feet, 8.5 inches is derived from the original specifications for an Imperial Roman war chariot.

The chariots of the Imperial Roman army were made just wide enough to accommodate the rear ends of two war horses, a larger breed than those commonly ridden today. Now, the twist to the story:

When you see a Space Shuttle sitting on its launch pad, there are two big booster rockets attached to the sides of the main fuel tank. These are solid rocket boosters, or SRB's. The SRB's are made by Thiokol at their factory near Promontory Point in Utah.

The engineers who designed the SRB's would have preferred to make them a bit fatter, but the SRB's had to be shipped by train from the factory to the launch site. The railroad line from the factory happens to run through a tunnel in the mountains, and the SRB's had to fit through that tunnel. The tunnel is slightly wider than the railroad track, and the railroad track, as you now know, is about as wide as two horses' behinds.

So, a major Space Shuttle design feature of what is arguably the world's most advanced transportation system was determined over two thousand years ago by the width of a horse's rear end.

And so it goes. Who knows where or on what planet it might end? That's what makes history interesting. There are always ties to the present and to the future. ■

the FOUNDING of the HOME of sound...

Sound County was founded during the summer of 2006 by core members Debbie Urrutia, John Urrutia, and Andy McDevitt. Soon thereafter, newcomers Kevin Sanborn, Andy Lindquist, and Byron Walcher moved to the County to round out the band's sound. Together, they began focusing their energy on writing their own material as well as performing uncommon songs from different genres to surprise and please diverse populations of listeners.

RAVE reviews

In the summer of 2006, they were invited to open for Keith Anderson. With that performance they were touted as being "one of the best opening acts ever" by Bob Hatch, guitarist of Anderson's band.

In 2007, Sound County had the privilege to open for CMA winner Rodney Atkins. This proved to be an amazing experience, and a fantastic success. This opportunity further inspired the group to create more original alternative country songs. Deb Urrutia, lead singer of the band stated, "We love playing great covers, but it's like a painter who's been reproducing DaVinci's for years...eventually that painter thrives on creating his or her own works of art. There is no greater thrill for a musician, I think, than seeing a fan sing along with a song you made up!"

a BED of CREATIVITY

In 2008, the County started the show for Reckless Kelly at The Mint in Ketchum, ID and for Craig Morgan at Kruzer's Courtyard in Twin Falls, ID. Both shows were thrilling! Because fans requested copies of various songs, they were propelled the band to begin recording their music. Sound County Studio was constructed to set the project in motion. This allowed each member to focus meticulously on their individual contributions. Several trips to the Tonic Room Recording and Mastering studio in Boise were then made to polish the project and prepare the work for distribution.

future FORWARD

This summer, Sound County is looking forward to putting on a concert at Trapper's Inn on July 18th, and to kicking off the show for Micky and the Motorcars on July 31st. Both of these events are located in Fairfield, ID. Advanced tickets for the Micky & the Motorcars show can be purchased at The Cove, located at 496 Addison Ave W, Twin Falls, ID.

Sound County is set to release their first full length record in July of 2009. It will feature all original songs written by Andy, Debbie, and John of the band, and will be available through cdbaby.com as well as at each of the group's performances.

The residents of Sound County invite you to "be a friend" by visiting: <http://myspace.com/soundcounty> for updates on events and happenings.
